The Episcopal convention meets at Versailles to day.

Perhaps Blanco intends to take Hobson and his men to Havana and confine them in Morro Castle to prevent its bombardment when the time comes to take the city.

Allen D. Candler will probably be the next governor of Georgia. Physically he is a very small man and has but one eye, having lost the other in battle in the Confederate service.

The sloop Senorita, that sailed from Seattle in January for Juneau with seven men aboard, and the schooner City of Sitka that sailed for Fort Wrangle with three men, have never been heard from and have been given up for lost.

Postmaster W. A. Waters, of Springfield, Ky., had his salary raised $100 on the same day a boy baby arrived in his family. He will probably name the boy Smith, to show the postmaster general that he appreciates the timely increase.

Berea College, the institution established about 30 years ago in Madison county by Northern people for the co-education of races and sexes, has come to a failure and will pass into the hands of the Christian church and will be made a denominational school for whites only. John G. Fee was the principal of the mixed school, which for some years has been patronized only by the colored race, the teachers being white women from the North.

The sensational correspondents are expressing fears that Hobson and his men have been murdered by the Spanish. This probably does a great injustice to Admiral Cervera. His prompt notification of the safe landing of the Americans with the voluntary promise that they would be taken care of, caused the American people to form a very high opinion of Cervera and they will be slow to believe that he would permit any harm to come to his prisoners. The trouble about the exchange is at Havana and not at Santiago. Blanco is the man to hold responsible for the safety of the prisoners.

Here is a nice story about the effectiveness of our Havana blockade. A merchant of that city is now in Key West and denies that Havana is suffering from lack of supplies of any kind. He reports, in the first place, that Havana is practically an open port, as it is not blockaded on its southern approach. Batabano, on the south side, is only forty miles from Havana, with which city it is connected by rail. Batabano has never been more than a shipping point and headquarters for the sponge fisheries of Southern Cuba and a landing place for the Isle of Pines ferryboats, which there connect with the north-bound trains for Havana. The water between Batabano and the Isle of Pines being very shallow, nowhere exceeding nine feet in depth, and therefore inaccessible to any large craft, has caused the Isle of Pines to be overlooked as a possible entry port or base of supplies for western Cuba, and as a point deserving of greater consideration than that attaching to a fifth-rate and much mismanaged penal colony. It now appears, however, that constant traffic has been kept up between the Isles of Pines and the Yucatan coast, and that full cargoes of provisions and live stock have been regularly landed there from steamers, schooners and other sailing vessels unmolested by American warships, which rarely if ever patrol those waters. The work of the trans-shipping these cargoes to Batabano on the flat-bottom ferryboats constantly plying between that port and Nueva Guernona, the principal port of the Isle of Pines, has been an easy matter, as also their subsequent transportation to Havana by rail. In the first four days of June, it is asserted, over 800 head of cattle were landed at Batabano, besides large quantities of flour and grain.

Stamps on Bank Checks.
By the recent act of congress all checks on banks are taxed by a two-cent stamp to be placed on each check and the stamp cancelled. Any violations of this law are punishable by heavy fine and imprisonment. The law goes into effect July 1, on and after which all depositors will have to provide themselves with the stamps necessary to make their checks legal. Supplies of stamps have not been received here yet, but we suppose they can be had before the 1st of July. All notes and bills of exchange discounted in the banks must also be stamped under this law.
One effect of this law will be to increase the postal money order business when small amounts are to be sent through the mails and stop to a great extent the use of checks for local transactions, unless the banks provide their depositors with stamped checks.

The torpedo boat No. 24, is named after Ensign Bagly, the first American officer killed in the present war, a delicate compliment to the bravery of the dead hero.
The President Monday sent to the Senate the nomination of William H. Lyons, of Covington, to be a Commissary of Subsistence, with the rank of Captain. Lyons is the private secretary of Senator Deboe. He is now in Covington to tell his friends good-bye. Mr. Lyons will make an effort to be detailed with the Kentucky troops. The President also nominated Charles M. A new business block is being built at Providence, which, when completed, will contain more than 200,000 brick.

Col. Josh T. Griffith, of Daviess county, sold 1,500 bushels of this year's wheat crop at 75c per bushel.

The town of Cynthiana is assessed for $1,280,582. The tax is $1.05, five cents of which is for school purposes.
